

Building Skills for Life

Many parents feel unsure about the right time to introduce their baby to the water. The SwimWorld Infant Aquatic Program begins as early as 4-6 months and is designed to provide the building blocks for your child's development, in the pool and out.

Our age based program ensures that the activities are designed to promote physical, cognitive and social development, while enhancing bonding in our warm 32°C water.

With the inclusion of the SwimWorld's Infant Aquatic Programme t-shirt, all children will learn independent recovery from an early age. This helps to fast track their motor skills and helps each and every child to be safer in an aquatic environment.

Through an exciting variety of age appropriate songs, games and specific water safety and water familiarisation activities, children will develop vital lifesaving skills.

Using a variety of colourful and fun equipment to aid in your child's learning, every child will not only develop motor skills more rapidly, but they will also gain enhanced cognitive development.

With a large emphasis on survival, parents will be guided by experienced and qualified coaches to build their child's confidence, awareness and independence in the water.
